HELP IS WANTED.

Sufferers by the Terrible Fraser River Floods

BEGINNING TO MAKE WANTS KNOWN

These Appeals Are Meeting Ready Response in All Quarters—Steamers With Supplies Leave for the Deluged Districts—Condition of the River—Prospects Along the Valley.

New Westminster, June 8.—At high tide this morning the water did not reach within two inches of yesterday's record, and a still greater fall is expected to-night. There is no change in the flood situation in the city. The mills are closed down waiting for the freshet to recede and the streets in the swamp are all more or less inundated. News from down the river was more encouraging to-day. No further breaks have occurred in the dyke and the damages have been repaired everywhere except at London's where it will take several days to throw the new dyke up to the necessary height. Only a little got over the dyke at John Kirkland's ranch at high water on Wednesday night after the break. Albertson's crops are not damaged.

The steamer Transfer reached port this afternoon from Kats landing with 75 passengers and 100 tons of freight. Several passengers were from the interior and the remainder hailed from the up river districts. A freight train which had been sidetracked somewhere up the line reached the landing last night, and by it came a few passengers from way station. Capt. Geo. Odlin reports that no rise took place in the river last night at Kats landing. Since the river began receding the water has receded seventeen inches at that point, and he is confident that the worst of the flood is over. From passengers it was learned that the situation up the river is unchanged. The waters receded a little, but not enough to free the lands affected.

H. Harvey has contributed $50 in cash to the relief fund. J. E. & E. Phillips have subscribed $50 in goods. The Brackman & Ker Milling Co. have signified their intention of contributing a ton of Enderby flour in aid of the sufferers. The Ogilvie Milling Co., through their agent, G. E. Leishman, have promised to send five tons of flour to the relief committee.

Vancouver, June 8.—Very little news comes from the flooded district to-night. The tide is lowering, but the melting snow from the mountains keep the water about the same place. If the Cariboo water does not come down to-morrow as expected, the river will have fallen sufficiently so as not to be materially affected by the flow. A large number of people from the flooded district are stopping in the hotels in this city.

No serious disaster has been reported since last night. Mr. Sicht says his Agassiz hop farm is not at all affected, and he has a very magnificent crop of potatoes high and dry. Mr. Hammersley, city solicitor, was the most serious loser in that section.

Very meagre reports come from Kaslo. The town is partially inundated, and people are overcrowding the houses on the high lands. The loss is considerable.

A meeting of the executive committee of the system of relief for the sufferers by the Fraser river floods was held this morning, when letters were read from the Ogilvie Milling Co. and the Hudson's Bay Co., offering liberal donations of flour for immediate distribution. Word was received that chicken feed and other supplies were needed by the inundated settlers on Barnston island, and the secretary was instructed to forward at once the articles asked for.

Tacoma, June 8.—There is only one way of getting east by rail from Puget Sound. It is over the Northern Pacific to Spokane, and from there over the U.P. branch to Riparia, transferring by boat across the Snake, thence resuming the same branch line to Umatilla, from which place the main line of the Union Pacific is open. The assistant general superintendent of the Northern Pacific has returned from a trip over his road. He says 95 miles of the Northern Pacific is under water, from Horse Plains, Mon., and Odin, Idaho, 15 miles west of Hope. He adds that business on that division of the Northern Pacific is clear between here and Kelso. The Puyallup, Stuck and White rivers between Seattle and Tacoma are still rising. The Stuck has overflowed farms near Sumner, doing damage to hop yards and crops. Waters are higher than they have been for many years.

A meeting was held on Wednesday night at Leed's Landing at which a list of all the destitute poor and their wants was made out, and Mr. Hembrough appointed to go down to Vancouver. He saw Mr. Templeton of the Citizens' relief committee and arrangements were made to send up supplies. Provisions, boots and shoes, chicken feed, seed and potatoes are the chief things needed. The government has agreed to supply the seed and the committee will send up a good supply of provisions.

Ottawa, June 7th, 1894.

His Honor the Lieutenant-Governor, Government House, Victoria.

I shall feel much obliged if you will keep me informed regarding any scheme that may be organized for alleviating distress caused by the devastation floods. Deep concern and sympathy felt.

—While at Macaulay Point this afternoon Sergeant John Langley of the provincial police found a long boat belonging to the ship Benmore. It was evidently lost during the excitement off that place last night. It had been driven up in a little cove and was uninjured. It will be returned to the ship.

THROUGH THE HEART.

Mrs. Lobb, of Nanaimo, Shoots Herself—Cause Unknown.

Nanaimo, June 9.—The wife of S. W. Lobb shot and killed herself last night in her bedchamber. The husband, who was in the house, at once alarmed the neighbors, who on arriving found the lady dead, having been shot through the heart. Mrs. Lobb was one of the most highly respected ladies in Nanaimo. She was well connected, and until the inquest is held little can be said as to the cause for the suicide.

AN ARSENICATED SUPPER.

Narrow Escape of Three Ranchers—Cedar District Polling Booths.

Nanaimo, June 9.—Messrs. Wallis and Taggart, the well known Errington ranchers, had a narrow escape from death by poisoning a few days ago. The accident was caused by the mistake of the Chinese cook in using arsenic in place of baking powder. All three sat down to supper, which they enjoyed, but it was not long before they were taken violently sick, and but for the timely arrival of Dr. Broughton they would have died.

The writs for the provincial elections have been issued, but the long distance between the polling booths is very unsatisfactory. If the residents of Cedar district desire to vote they will have to travel seven miles to do so. A petition is being circulated for presentation to the Lieutenant-Governor requesting him to name another polling place at Cedar district.

The bicycle tournament opened at Northfield to-day in presence of a large number of spectators. There were 20 contestants and the races had plenty of life in them. Chief Consul for British Columbia Charles Hayden Gibbons, of Victoria, presented the prizes.

Last night a well known lady shot herself, whether intentionally or accidentally could not be ascertained at the time of writing.

WILLIAM D. WHITNEY DEAD.

The Yale Professor and Philologist Rests from His Labors.

New Haven, Conn, June 7.—Professor W. D. Whitney died at 10.05 this morning.

William Dwight Whitney was a brother of Josiah Dwight Whitney, the great geologist. He was born at Northampton, Mass., February 9, 1827, was graduated at Williams in 1845, and obtained a clerkship in a banking house in Northampton. This occupation he followed for three years and devoted his leisure to the study of languages, particularly Sanskrit. In 1849-50 he studied under Professor Edward E. Salisbury at Yale, and in 1850 he went to Germany and studied at the University of Berlin under Franz Bopp and Albrecht Weber, and at the University of Tobingen under Rudolf Roth. With the latter he prepared an edition of the "Atharva Veda Sanhita," from which he copied the text from the manuscripts in the royal library in Berlin, and collated with it other copies in the libraries of Paris, London and Oxford. In 1854 he was appointed professor of Sanskrit at Yale, and in 1870 of comparative philology at that university, and he retained the combined chair until his death. Prof. Whitney delivered a series of essays before the Smithsonian Institution in 1864, which he repeated in extended form before the Lowell Institute in Boston, and then published as "Language and the Study of Languages." He was elected a member of the American Oriental Society in 1849, was its librarian in 1855-78, its corresponding secretary in 1857-84, and since its president. His contributions to its journals were very large, and of its volumes half the contents were written by himself, including a translation of the "Surya Siddhanta," with notes and appendix, being a Hindoo treatise on astronomy, the text, with notes, of the "Atharva Veda Praticakhya;" the text, with English versions, notes and native commentary of the "Taittiriya Praticakhya," which gained for him the Bopp prize from the Berlin academy in 1871, as the most important Sanskrit translation of the preceding three years; the "Index Verborum to the Atharva Veda," and reviews of Karl R. Lipsius' phonetic alphabet and of the opinions of Jean B. Biot, Albrecht Weber and Max Muller on Hindoo astronomy. He was also a contributor to the great Sanskrit dictionary of Bohtlingk and Roth. Professor Whitney ranked as the foremost Sanskrit scholar of his time, and his text books have been awarded high praise for their exact statements of general grammatical doctrine. In the science of language, of which his expositions and classifications are accepted as authorities, he claims that the development of speech is by the acceptance of conventional signs, and that its beginings were imitative, in lieu of the view advanced by others, who content that language was spontaneously generated in the mind and coexistent with thought. The degree of Ph. D. was conferred on him by Berlin university in 1861, and that of LL.D. by Williams in 1868, William and Mary in 1869, and Harvard in 1876, while that of J. U. D. was given him by St. Andrew's, Scotland, in 1874, and Litt. D. by Columbia in 1886. He was the first president of the American Philological Association in 1869, and in 1865 was elected to the National Academy of Sciences. Besides his membership in many other scientific bodies, both at home and abroad, he was a correspondent of the Berlin, Turin, Rome and St. Petersburg academies and the French institute, and was a foreign knight of the Prussian order "pour la merite." Professor Whitney wrote for the North American Review, the New Englander and similar periodicals, wrote various articles in cyclopedias, and contributed to the transactions of societies of which he was a member many papers.

VICTIMS OF THE GALE

Joseph Colquhoun and F. A. Vernon Meet Death

AT ENTRANCE OF VICTORIA HARBOR

Their Flimsy Sloop Cannot Weather the Terrible Storm—Brave Efforts at Rescue Fail—The Victims Sink Beneath the Raging Waters Off Macaulay Point Last Night.

Two men, supposed to be Joseph Colquhoun and F. Allan Vernon, were drowned off Macaulay Point at 8.30 last night. They were on their way to the William Head quarantine station, and their sloop, the Undine, upset. William Pooley and Indian Dick made heroic attempts to rescue them, Pooley going out in a flat bottom skiff and the Indian in a canoe. There was a terrible sea running at the time, and the rescuers ventured out at the peril of their own lives. Mr. Pooley was off the point when the gale began to blow and was on the lookout for a safe place to run ashore. He saw the sloop running along. She was laboring hard in the sea. Suddenly a gust of wind caught her and she went over. One of the men who was in the boat managed to reach the side again, while the other clung to the mast. Both called loudly for help. Mr. Pooley turned his boat's head and pulled with all his strength. It was a hopeless task, for the boat became unmanageable, and, getting into the trough of the sea went over. Mr. Pooley seized an oar, and in five minutes was thrown up on the beach. When Pooley's boat turned over Indian Dick, who was on the beach, launched his canoe and made for the capsized sloop. The canoe rode the sea safely and Dick threw a rope to the man nearest him. The man seized it and made it fast to his arm. His companion then took hold of him, and Dick started to tow them ashore. He had gone a short distance when the line parted. Clasped in each other's arms they disappeared under the water. The Indian turned back, but neither of the men appeared again. The sloop had hardly filled with water before she sank. Pooley did not get close enough to the men to see who they were. Dick was rather confused. There was therefore great doubt as to the identity of the men and what boat they had.

It was learned to-day that Colquhoun and Vernon left here in the evening for the quarantine station, and there is little doubt they are the men who were drowned. Vernon had just secured a position at the station that morning, while Colquhoun was the assistant keeper. They came in with two Chinamen who had been working there, arriving in the afternoon. Vernon told Captain Foot they were going out, and the latter warned him it was not safe. They did not leave until after 7 o'clock, Colquhoun having been seen at that hour. The Undine was a very unsafe craft. She has sunk often when filled with water.

Constables Hoosen and Hutchinson went to Macaulay Point this morning and searched the beach. They found nothing except Pooley's upturned boat. There is a mass of kelp where the men went down, and doubt is expressed as to the recovery of the bodies. Sergeant Langley was out this afternoon, and this evening a search will be made off the point from the provincial government launch. Captain Lawrence and a son of Colquhoun left by the wagon road for William Head to see if the two men reached there.

Joseph Colquhoun lived with his wife and family, three daughters and one son, on the Fairfield road. He was 57 and a Scotchman by birth, and was once a boatswain in the Royal navy, having retired on a pension. He lost a fortune in speculation in Winnipeg and the Northwest. He was a prominent member of the St. Andrew's and Caledonian Society. His position at William Head he secured shortly after the station was completed.

F. Allan Vernon was a native of Northamptonshire, aged 34. His father, Captain Vernon, R. N., commanded H. M. S. Malacca on this station many years ago, and his uncle, now Sir George Phillipps, was a prominent official here in colonial days, being attorney-general in 1851. Sir George afterwards received a Shanghai appointment. The drowned man was for years in the merchant service, rising to the rank of first mate in the Castle steamship company. He went to Montana in 1879, and after rocking for some time became a veterinary surgeon. He practiced in Spokane, and later went to Kaslo. His office and effects were burned there, and he came to Victoria early in April. He went to work as a deckhand on the Mischief. That place he left to go to the quarantine station. Vernon has a brother a rancher in Oregon, who ran away from the Malacca, upon which he was a midshipman. He also has two sisters married in Montana. The rest of his relatives live in England.

ILL-FATED SEALERS.

A Dismal Catalogue of Disasters to the Fleet.

San Francisco, June 8.—The present year has been the most disastrous one ever experienced in the history of sealing. For the past two months nearly every steamer arriving from the Orient has brought news of some disasters to the sealing schooners on the Japan coast. Up to the arrival of the China on Wednesday last four vessels are known to have been lost, in three of which the crews perished. The news brought by that steamer, however, caps the climax. Ill luck has attended the fleet besides the vessels known to be lost. The China reports that the schooners Mary H. Thomas, Altona, Rattler, Old San Diego, Unga and Katie and Ann are all missing, not one of them having been seen or heard from since they left port during the latter part of December, 1893, and January, 1894. A number of the sealing fleet encountered a fearful storm in April, when four were lost, and it is feared that the six missing vessels have shared the same fate. The season ends in the Japan sea on the 25th inst., and then all the sealing vessels will make for Yokohama to leave their skins, as the new regulations in Behring sea will preclude them entering these waters with skins on board. If nothing be heard from the missing vessels by July sealing men generally will concede that they have been lost.

JUNK VS. CLYDE-BUILT.

A Clumsy Chinese Boat Sinks a Smart Iron Steamer.

San Francisco, June 8.—The steamer Kwantung ran into and sank the steamer Ngapoota near Penang a few days before the City of Sydney left Hong Kong. The Ngapoota sank almost immediately, and of her 138 passengers only 48 are accounted for in the flesh. Captain Witt of the Ngapoota, who was over twelve hours in the water, in giving the details of the disaster said that he was below in his berth when he was awakened by a loud shouting and before he could get on deck the bow of the Kwantung was almost through his ship. The water rushed in through a gaping hole in her side and she filled very rapidly. Almost before he could grasp a life preserver the bow of the steamer was under water and he was carried down with it. When he came up the stern was high in the air and many of the passengers saved were clinging to it. Others floated about on pieces of wreckage but they dropped off one by one.

The Kwantung had a large hole in her side, and she made a bee-line for land, disregarding the appeals of the drowning. About twelve hours after the disaster a junk hove in sight and discovered the captain's signals of distress. Many of the shipwrecked passengers had given up all hope of ever being rescued, and they deliberately threw themselves into the water to end their misery.

Both the steamers were owned in Penang. The Ngapoota, an iron screw steamer of 203 tons, was built in Glasgow, and the Kwantung was a wooden screw steamer of 233 tons, built by the Chinese in Penang in [illegible].

WHEN DOCTORS DIFFER.

San Francisco, June 8.—President Hibbard called the closing session of the convention of the American Medical Association to order at 10.30 this morning. The report of the committee on the revision of the code of ethics was read by Dr. Holton, chairman of committee. The committee found no reason to frame any regulations regarding the copyright of medical books or the patenting of medical devices. The recommended a change in the provisions regarding consultations, so as, in the interests of patients, to permit members to consult with graduates of any medical college legally authorized to issue diplomas, such practitioners to be of good standing. This recommendation includes women practitioners, and was clearly inclusive of homoeopathists, though homoeopathy was not mentioned. Dr. Didama read a minority report. It supported the old code, declaring it to be sufficient and that its provisions should be adhered to. It declared that the majority report had emasculated much of the old code, had reduced the moral standard required of practitioners and permitted of advertising of the character that the old code condemns. On motion the minority report was substituted for the majority report. The vote was overwhelmingly in favor of the substitution. Other motions followed in rapid succession, the report being finally tabled, thus disposing of the subject for the session of 1894. The association remains under the old code of ethics, which forbids consultation with homoeopathists.

ARMOR PLATE FRAUDS.

Some Very Curious Facts Elicited by the Investigators.

Washington, D. C., June 8.—The armor plate investigation was resumed today. Lieutenant Cowles of Marblehead was the first witness. He was appointed the inspector of the Homestead works in 1893. The first plates had been furnished in January, 1892. While it would be possible to re-treat the plates, the Lieutenant did not think it had been done.

Witness said he never knew of test plates being re-treated. In his opinion every plate of the armor now on the warships should come up to the minimum tests.

The witness said he had inspected all the plates on the Monterey, not one of which was so defective as to endanger the ship in time of war. One plate had a large blowhole about eighteen inches in diameter.

Chairman Cummings remarked the hole was big enough to receive a baby's head.

Lieutenant Holcomb, of the navy, of the inspector's at Carnegie's, stated that his observation led him to the conclusion that the Carnegie company and the government were at the mercy of the employes. The latter could use fraudulent dies and stamps, and with these could commit irregularities in spite of the company or the government.

Officers of the company told the witness that workmen, when using false stamps and bad materials, did so in accordance with the company's instructions of 1891.

Lieutenant Holcomb said five government inspectors could trace every plate from the time it was an ingot until it was finished armor.

Further testimony will be taken on Wednesday.

CHEQUES FOR CHEROKEES.

Tahlequah, I. T., June 8.—The disbursement of the $6,500,000 to the Cherokee Indians began here to-day. It will take the treasurer two weeks to complete the payment of this station, after which he will go to other points and distribute the funds until each Indian has received his per capita.

One million six hundred thousand dollars of payments now reposes in the treasurer's office and one hundred members of the Cherokee guards, the surest shots in the service, patrol the grounds, the upper and lower corridors of the state house [illegible], most of them camping out of town. Should the Daltons or any gang attempt to carry away the treasure they would be riddled with bullets before they could walk across the street. None but persons of the Cherokee blood are allowed in the state house while the payment is going on.

At ten o'clock this morning the payment began. All day Friday, Saturday and Sunday the Cherokees began pouring in, most of them camping out of town. During the night preceding the opening of the payment flaming torches stuck in the ground threw a weird light upon the guards patrolling the streets. Among the crowds were Cherokees of all ages. Every infant, by the way, draws its per capita, $265.68, the same as any adult. It is said there have been 500 Cherokee babies born within the past three months, and some of them are not over 24 hours old, and they will also come in for their share.

The districts now being paid are the Tahlequah and Going Snake districts. A record of each Indian has been made and each files past the treasurer, to whom he gives his name. The rolls are referred to, and if the name given is found the Indian gets his money and that of his squaw and children. After getting his money he has to pass the gauntlet of the collectors of the various firms who have debtors among the Cherokees.

The Indians became indignant this evening and tore down the wooden railing that had been erected to permit the collectors to "dun" the Indians. One man who was standing in line ready to catch his debtor had out over $250,000, and he freely admits that he could lose 25 per cent. of this and still make a good profit.

There were many amusing incidents. Those who proposed to pay their debts when they pleased would dodge under the ropes along which they had to walk and thus escape the collectors. Another who owed a merchant $210 threw the collector a $10 bill and said, "Not another cent till I get ready." A weary-looking old squaw who came out clutching $700 in crisp bills was headed off by a collector, and when she got to the end of the line she had not a cent left. She walked away sobbing bitterly.

When the treasurer closed the doors tonight $7000 had been paid out. It will take 12 days to complete the payment here and by September 1 the whole amount will have been distributed. Chief Harris fears no trouble.

Lizzie Borden's Revenge.

Fall River, Mass., June 8.—The local branch of the Young Women's Christian Temperance Union, comprising eighty of the best known and most highly respected [illegible] have voted to vacate its rooms in the Andrew building. This building is now owned by Lizzie J. Borden, who was tried and acquitted on the charge of murdering her father and stepmother on August 4, 1892. The cause of the order to vacate was that Lizzie Borden, who was formerly a member of the union, has been cut socially by her old companions. She says she does not propose to have tenants upon her property who will not at least treat her civilly. Miss Borden has been leading a very retired life, but from time to time she encounters people and meets with snubs. The indication of members at their eviction is aggravated by the fact that while Lizzie was in the Fall River jail the union became the subject of ridicule for passing resolutions of sympathy with her.

AFFLICTED FROM INFANCY.

A Lad Who Had Been Dropsical From Childhood Cured by Dodd's Kidney Pills—the Remedy that Never Failed.

McIntyre, Ont., June 4.—The young son of Hugh Lamont has been afflicted with dropsy from infancy. He was [illegible] all over. His parents were at their wits end to find some cure for him when they read of Dr. Dodd's Kidney Pills. Mr. Lamont got six boxes of the pills and the boy began taking them. Before the sixth box was finished the boy was cured. It doesn't matter whether the patient is young or old, the pills will affect the cure of any kidney disease or of any disease arising from disordered kidneys.

Australian Boot Trade Lockout.

San Francisco, June 8.—The steamer Mariposa brings the following news of the great lock-out in the boot trade in Sydney. Directly and indirectly between 8,000 and 10,000 men, women and children are affected by the strike. The cause of the strike was the refusal of employes in the factories to work alongside a non-unionist in each factory. At a mass meeting of bootmakers resolutions were passed condemning the masters for locking out the men. At a meeting of employers it was unanimously resolved to adhere to the freedom of contract clause. The Boot Manufacturers' Association agreed to re-open their factories on the distinct understanding that they be permitted to employ union or non-union labor. The operatives have resolved not to resume work until the men receive an assurance that their wages will not be reduced. It was also decided to reserve the right of working or refusing to work alongside non-unionists.

Sad and Romantic.

La Libertad, San Salvador, June 8.—There is a particularly sad romance connected with the Salvadorean republic and General Antonio Ezeta's death. General Ezeta's fiancee, a Miss Wright, was in this city some days ago. She spoke hopefully of her lover's success and announced her intention of returning to La Libertad when "General Ezeta has conquered." Miss Wright is an American lady, a native of Georgia, who resided in San Salvador during 1893.

"C. I. Hood & Co., Lowell, Mass.:

"Gentlemen:—I feel that I cannot say enough in favor of Hood's Sarsaparilla. For five years I have been troubled with scrofula in my neck and throat. Several kinds of medicines which I tried did not do me any good, and when I commenced to take Hood's Sarsaparilla there were large bunches on my neck so sore that I could not bear the slightest touch. When I had taken one bottle of this medicine, the soreness had gone, and before I had finished the second the bunches had entirely disappeared." BLANCHE ATWOOD, Sangerville, Maine.

FROM SUFFERING TO HEALTH.

THE EXPERIENCE OF A WELL-KNOWN BRUCE COUNTY FARMER.

He Tells the Story of the Disease That Afflicted Him, the Sufferings He Endured and How he Found Release—Other Sufferers May Take Hope From His Release.

From the Teeswater News.

Of all the ills that flesh is heir to perhaps none causes the sufferer keener anguish, and few are more persistent and more difficult to eradicate from the system than that nervous disease known as sciatica. The victims of this painful form of this malady suffers beyond the power of words to express, and it is with the utmost reluctance that the disorder yields to any course of treatment intended for its cure. Hearing that a rather remarkable cure had been effected in the case of Mr. William Baptist, a respected resident of the township of Culross, a News reporter called upon that gentleman to ascertain the facts. Mr. Baptist is an intelligent and well to do farmer. He is well known in the section in which he resides and is looked upon as a man of unimpeachable integrity. He is in the prime of life, and his present appearance does not indicate that he had at one time been a great sufferer. He received the News representative with the utmost cordiality, and cheerfully told the story of his restoration to health, remarking that he felt it a duty to do so in order that others inflicted as he had been might find relief.

Up to the fall of 1892 he had been a healthy man, but at that time while harvesting the turnip crop during a spell of wet, cold and disagreeable weather, he was attacked by sciatica. Only those who have passed through a similar experience can tell what he suffered. He says it was soothing terrible. The pain was almost unendurable, and would at times cause the perspiration to ooze from every pore. Sleep forsook his eyelids. His days were days of anguish and night brought no relief. Reputable physicians were consulted without any appreciable benefit. Remedies of various kinds were resorted to and his condition was worse than before. The limb affected began to decrease in size, the flesh appeared to be parting from the bone and the leg assumed a withered aspect. Its power of sensation grew less and less. It appeared a dead thing as it grew more and more helpless, and it is little wonder that the hope of recovery began to fade away. All through the long winter he continued to suffer, and towards spring was prevailed upon to try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. He commenced using them, and soon felt that they were doing him good, and hope began to revive. By the time he had taken three boxes the pain was relieved and the diseased limbs began to assume a natural condition. He continued the use of the remedy until he had taken twelve boxes. In course of time he was able to resume work, and to-day he feels that he is completely cured. He has recommended Dr. Williams' Pink Pills to others with good results.

An analysis shows that Dr. Williams' Pink Pills contain in a condensed form all the elements necessary to give new life to the blood and to restore shattered nerves. They are an unfailing specific for all diseases arising from an impoverished condition of the blood, or from an impairment of the nervous system, such as loss of appetite, depression of spirits, anaemia, chlorosis or green sickness, general muscular weakness, dizziness, loss of memory, locomotor ataxia, paralysis, sciatica, rheumatism, St. Vitus' dance and the after effects of la grippe, and all diseases depending upon a vitiated condition of the blood, such as scrofula, chronic erysipelas, etc. They are also a specific for the troubles peculiar to the female system, building anew the blood and restoring the glow of health to pale and sallow cheeks. In the case of men they effect a radical cure in all cases arising from mental worry, overwork or excesses.

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are manufactured by the Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont., and Schenectady, N.Y., and are sold only in boxes bearing the firm's trade mark and wrapper, at 50 cents a box, or six boxes for $2.50, and may be had from all dealers or direct by mail from the Dr. Williams Medicine company at either address. Beware of imitations and substitutes.

SCORES THE PRESS.

An Elongated Youth from San Jose Plays with Thunder.

San Francisco, June 8.—At the fourth annual convention of the San Francisco district of the Epworth League Association yesterday a delegate from San Jose gave the press a bad scolding. Several delegates made short speeches and the benediction was about to be pronounced when one lank youth from San Jose who has long been a silent advocate of press reform took this occasion to ventilate his views. He rose from his seat with an energy born of inspiration, directing his blinking eyes on James Swinnerton, the "bear" artist of the Examiner, who was sketching at the reporters' table.

There was a minute's pause, during which the youthful apostle of reform nervously caught his breath and swallowed very hard several times before he could voice his sentiments. Being the solitary occupant of the reporters' table, although not a reporter, Mr. Swinnerton figured as a target for the commendable ideas that had been fostered and developed in the quietness of the Garden City, to bloom in San Francisco.

"I am one of those individuals," said the speaker, by way of defining his attitude, "who are doing good. I believe it to be the mission of every Christian to do good, and as much of it as he can. Now, in my opinion, if we want the Epworth League to shine before the world in its proper light we must prepare our own newspaper reports. It is the policy of the newspapers to send their youngest reporters to religious conferences and religious meetings of all kinds. They do not have the spiritual interest of the reporter at heart, but they think religious gatherings are good things for young reporters to practice on."

By this time every one was looking stylingly at Mr. Swinnerton and vainly attempting to suppress their mirth to note his roseate blushes.

"Why, do you believe it?" continued the San Jose man, warming up to his subject, "these young reporters don't even understand shorthand."

This damaging statement had the effect of subduing the audible giggling, and might eventually have brought the audience to a state of seriousness had not Mr. Swinnerton at this juncture wheeled around in his chair and with a sketch pad on his knee began to outline the speaker. After some more remarks about the injustice of newspapers in sending young reporters to religious gatherings and the lack of ability displayed by young reporters after they were there, he closed with a plea to the Epworth League to take matters into its own hands by preparing its own accounts for the press, suggesting the advisability of dealing with the editors rather than the young reporters.

The meeting was closed, but so anxious were those present, particularly the young ladies, to sympathize with Mr. Swinnerton that they crowded around him and impeded his exit. Feeling the necessity of convincing the young people of the reliability of the press, Mr. Swinnerton made a little speech, saying the gentleman from San Jose was in error and that some of the most efficient reporters in town were young people. "Why," said he enthusiastically, "the youngest reporters on the Examiner have as much ability as the oldest reporters on the other papers. Because one is young it does not follow that one is inefficient."

EGAN'S OPINIONS.

St. Louis, June 8.—Patrick Egan, ex-Minister to Chile, who was so closely related to the late Charles Stuart Parnell and Michael Davitt in the affairs of the Irish Land League, when seen last night in regard to Tynan's book containing the startling confessions and charges relative to the Irish Invincible conspiracy, which resulted in the Phoenix park assassination, said:

"It is stated in New York that Tynan's writing and publication of this book is at the instigation of the London Times, which is believed to be making a second attempt to connect the late Mr. Parnell and the Parnellite party with the extreme or Invincible wing of the Irish agitators, who are charged with the assassination of Lord Cavendish.

"The Times, in doing this, hopes to throw such discredit on home rule and the English Liberal party as to bring about a Tory victory at the next English election, which may now occur almost any day owing to the dwindling majority of the Liberal government. This result accomplished, should the Times be able to convince England that Parnell and his followers in the land league were cognizant of the schemes of assassination, would be a vindication of its own attacks on Parnell and others of the Irish leaders in the famous but now discredited series of articles on Parnellism and Crime which appeared in the Times, and which led to the clearing of Parnell through the discovery of the Pigott forgeries.

"I know of my own knowledge that the Times has been engaged in this second movement now for the past two years. It is also known that the Times has emissaries in this country engaged in the search for evidence that may go to prove that Parnell or the land league was cognizant of the plans of the extremist wing of the Irish agitators—the wing that urged the employment of dynamite in the struggle against England and that advocated assassination.

"I do not express an opinion as to what may or may not have led Tynan to write and publish this book. I cannot pass any judgment on the correctness of his details as to the formation of the Invincibles or as to the plans for the assassination of Cavendish or of Forrester. I know nothing of the Invincibles or of the assassination plans. At the time of the murder of Cavendish I was living in Paris.

"The charge that Parnell knew of these plans or that he was aware of the determination to keep the office of chief secretary for Ireland vacant by assassination, or that he urged more vigorous action when the Invincibles failed to assassinate, is absurd on the face of it. By none will it be more quickly discredited than by those members of the British parliament who served with Parnell and knew him.

"If Parnell or the land league, or any of Parnell's followers, had had any connection with these crimes, the fact would surely have become known, because the London Times ransacked England, France, the United States and Ireland for evidence that would establish this connecting link, by buying up every one it could, spending in all over $1,000,000, and then he failed in the attempts.

"I cannot account for Tynan's charges except on the theory that he may be mentally unsound. If he really was the 'No. 1' of the conspiracy that ended in the assassination of Lord Cavendish, is it likely that he would acknowledge it openly, even though he might be protected by extradition? I do not know whether or not the United States would give him up were a demand made by England, but it seems to me that no man who had really been connected in such a conspiracy and murder would publish the fact to the world."

Bad Drinking Water.

Travellers suffer greatly from the different kinds of water they are compelled to drink, as nothing is so likely to bring on an attack of diarrhoea as change of drinking water. Perry Davis' Pain Killer is the only safe, quick and sure cure for diarrhoea, cramps and cholera morbus, and the valise of every traveller should contain a bottle of the mixture, which he can procure at any reputable drug store. 25c. for a large bottle.

Stranding of the Bear.

San Francisco, June 8.—No advices have been received here to-day confirming the report of the stranding of the revenue cutter Bear at the entrance to the harbor of Sitka, and there are some who know Captain Healy well who discredit the report. Captain Niebahm, when questioned at the headquarters of the Alaska Commercial company, declared that he failed to find anything to confirm the report of the disaster. He thought the story of the mishap of the Patterson had been confounded with the Bear, and believed Captain Healy was too good a navigator to lose his vessel at the entrance to such a harbor as Sitka. At the naval headquarters no dispatch had been received either affirming or denying the report and Collector Wise could throw no light on the situation.

The Corporation reserves to itself the right to redeem and purchase these debentures on paying the amount thereof and the interest due thereon at the date of such purchase to the holder or holders thereof, at any time after twenty-five years form the date of issuance of such debentures.

The tenderer must state the price net at Victoria which he will pay.

In addition to the net price the purchaser will have to pay the Corporation the interest at four and one-half per cent. from the 1st of August, 1894, to whatever date the money is received by the City Treasurer.

The above debentures are issued under authority of "The Sewerage Loan By-law, 1894," with principal and interest secured by a rate on all ratable land and improvements in the Corporation of the City of Victoria.

WELLINGTON J. DOWLER,

TO THE ELECTORS
—OF—
Victoria City Electoral District.

Gentlemen:—The general election now being near at hand, and being a candidate for re-election, I wish to place my views on some of the questions commanding your attention, as well as to intimate the line of action which I shall take and the measures which I shall, if opportunity permits, support and maintain.

The party now in power have practically held office for over eleven years. Their policy has been an indefinite one on many of the questions requiring consideration. At the last general election the Opposition advocated reform in the land laws of the province, and have been able to make some important changes.

The privilege of allowing speculators and non-residents to take up large tracts of land has been taken away and the lands are now available for actual settlers.

By the efforts of the Opposition the assessment of the wild land has been much increased; the ad valorem principle of assessment according to the land value, is now the law.

There are two essential matters yet to be carried out in connection with the encouraging of agricultural settlers. First, the surveying of available lands for such a purpose and giving the necessary information by the Lands and Works Department; second, the making of roads to such settlements, so that the farmer may be able to bring his produce to market—such a policy as this must be adopted in order to develop and encourage the farming industry of our province. By so doing we shall add much to our wealth and prosperity.

The railway policy of the Government has not been a business-like one. From the time of the grant given to the Esquimalt & Nanaimo Railway down to the Nakusp & Slocan deal, the interests of the province and the welfare of the people have not been well guarded. On the one hand a corporation receives a large subsidy and an immense tract of land, free from taxation for ever; on the other, a private company is subsidized by guaranteeing the bonds to the full cost of the road as well as interest on the same for twenty-five years. One cannot but come to the conclusion that a Government policy of such character is likely to bring the credit of the province into disrepute.

Monopolies of any kind are to be deplored, but monopolies backed by Government aid and support are often the most difficult to overcome. Government aid to such an extent as has been given in the instances referred to, precludes other roads from being assisted or built. As an instance of this we recognise the difficulty the British Pacific Railway will have in dealing with the Esquimalt & Nanaimo Railway and its existing rights. Thus by the action of the present Government in the past it looks as if the province were at the mercy of riparians and monopolists who are despoiling the people of their heritage.

I am opposed to the executive using its power to make large appropriations of money by special warrant for roads, streets, bridges, and public works, without first submitting such to the legislature. Such a course of action leads to favoritism and corruption and is not in accord with the principles of constitutional government.

I have advocated, and will continue to do so, the reduction of taxation on improvements and the abolition of taxes on mortgages. The latter impost presses doubly hard upon the borrower, and the repeal of this law would be in the interest and for the advancement of the province.

The practice followed on the eve of a general election of promising aid to public works and institutions by members of the executive should be condemned, as it is attempting to bribe the electors with their own money. The independent electors should answer this by sending men to the Legislature who will do their utmost to remove such ministers from power.

During the past four years legislation has been brought about, chiefly by the Opposition, in reforming the School Law. The residents of the cities have now greater power over the management of their schools, and more is yet desired in this particular. I shall use my best endeavors to bring this about, so that our schools may be free of all political influences.

I have also advocated further restriction on Chinese immigration and the employment of Chinese by any company seeking charters or grants from the Legislature. I have advocated and will maintain—that a clause should be inserted in all bills giving such privileges or aid to prevent the employment of this class of labor.

I also have advocated the necessity of employing residents of the province instead of non-residents or foreigners in the prosecution of all works or contracts let by the government.

It is impossible in an address of this kind to touch on all questions affecting the province. I hope, however, before long to have the opportunity of addressing the electors in public meeting, at which time I will refer to matters more extensively.

Hoping that my past record as a representative in the Local Legislature has been acceptable to you, I again seek your votes and support.

I remain, yours respectfully,

G. L. MILNE.

TO THE ELECTORS
—OF—
Victoria City Electoral District.

Gentlemen:—As a candidate in the coming contest for legislative honors, and particularly as a labor candidate, I take this method of expressing some of the views I hold relating to the good government of the province.

I believe that heretofore, although workingmen have assisted largely in electing representatives to the legislature and parliament, their interests have not, generally speaking, been advanced or guarded; but on the contrary laws have been enacted whereby the greater burden of taxation has been placed upon the shoulders of the workingman, and monopolies have been fostered to the detriment of their interests and the country at large. Too many professional men and capitalists have made or influenced the making of our laws, and I believe that a remedy may be applied by workingmen being represented in the councils of our land by men from their own ranks—men who are not only in sympathy with them, but who are in touch with their necessities.

I believe that every man is entitled to an equitable share of what his labor produces; also that enterprise and ability to organize and direct labor to the accomplishment of large undertakings deserves special consideration, but not to the extent that it is often accorded by the governments of the present day.

I would advocate a reduction in the hours of labor, and consider an eight hour law should be established by the government and enforced on all government work.

Also the establishment of a provincial labor bureau for the purpose of gathering reliable information on the labor situation, so that intending immigrants may be made fully acquainted with the true state of the labor market in the province.

I believe that as a class the Chinese are injurious to the province, as they undoubtedly ridicule our religion and laws; introduce loathsome diseases and demoralizing habits; they trade exclusively among themselves and send what wealth they may acquire from our province to enrich their own empire. I believe the government should make every effort to lessen the evil which is the result of the presence of Coolie labor, and in the absence of laws similar to those in force in Australia, our government should, when granting privileges to companies and corporations, insist on a clause in the charters granted prohibiting the employment of Asiatic labor by such corporations or companies.

I advocate a liberal railway policy, feeling sure that we must have the important highways to assist in developing the many latent resources of the province, but am opposed to the granting of monopolies in land for speculative purposes to companies to the exclusion of settlers.

I also believe that all religious questions should be kept out of our schools, being confident that the numerous religious institutions are quite capable of dealing with that matter.

I will more fully express my views on these questions at public meetings to be held. Hoping you can see your way clear to give me your support at the polls, I am, yours respectfully,

ARTHUR H. DUTTON.

TO THE ELECTORS
—OF—
Victoria City Electoral District.

Gentlemen:—As I am a candidate to represent you in the Provincial Legislature, I wish to give my views on some of the important questions of the day.

I hold that each man is entitled to all his labor produces; therefore, no tax should be levied on the products of labor.

The road tax, the provincial revenue tax, personal property tax, mortgage tax, taxes on improvements, and all taxes on useful trades and industries are unjust and should be abolished.

To carry out these principles, I am in favor of raising all public revenues for provincial and municipal purposes by a tax upon land values, irrespective of improvements.

This tax would lower rents, raise wages, encourage industry, equalize opportunities, and thereby benefit all.

The present electoral system gives unequal representation, and calls for legislative reform.

The monetary deposit now required from candidates for the provincial legislature should be abolished.

I am in favor of passing laws to exclude Asiatic labor from government works and prohibiting any further Asiatic immigration. When Chinese labor can be excluded from any works, by inserting clauses to that effect in charters and grants, it should be done.

I advocate a reduction in the hours of labor; an eight hour law should be established by the government and enforced on all government works.

I am in favor of establishing a Small Debts Court, to enable merchants and others to collect accounts with as little loss of time and money as possible.

I am an independent supporter of the opposition, because I feel they are inclined to go farthest in the direction of the reforms which I advocate; at the same time I wish it distinctly understood I am for measures and not for men.

As canvassing by a candidate is, in my opinion, contrary to the spirit of the ballot, it is not my intention to personally ask for votes. Trusting you may deem me a fit and proper person to represent you in the legislature, I hereby earnestly solicit your votes and influence. Faithfully yours,

W. G. CAMERON.

DEADLY MOTH MILLERS.

Believed Responsible for Many a Supposed Suicide.

San Francisco, June 8.—So many deaths have lately occurred in this city from asphyxiation that it has become a serious question whether many of them are not accidental rather than intently been turned low it has been hard for the coroner to determine. In some instances when the gas had evidently been turned low it has been thought that a sudden draught through the window extinguished the burning jet, and so the gas was permitted to escape.

Investigation has suggested a new explanation, and it is that the innocent-looking moth millers are the cause of many of the fatalities. In almost every room of San Francisco may be found these millers.

C. W. Dun, the naturalist, said last night:

"This pretty insect is causing many deaths, and people would do well to look out for them. They are harmless looking, but very dangerous. San Francisco is, though a large city, full of these moth millers. Their eggs are laid everywhere. The average man does not see a moth miller anyhow, though it flies before him half a dozen times. He hasn't trained eyes for such things. The only way he knows the millers have been around is when he discovers his clothes have been cut to pieces.

"It is the millers rather than the little gusts of wind that put out the gas. As soon as a moth sees a light he makes for it. Most people on going to bed leave a jet or two burning very low. At the same time the window sash is up or down. Therefore when a miller sees a jet he finds easy access to it. A single flip of his wings is often enough to extinguish it. The result is that the gas quickly fills the room and asphyxiates the sleeper. No wonder that no note is left and that the verdict can be rendered in the death. It is against which the moth miller is responsible."

THEN AND NOW.

The little excitement caused by Hon. Mr. Vernon's remarks on the British Pacific railway project naturally calls to mind the bye-election campaign in this city in 1890, when Dr. Milne and Hon. Theodore Davie were the candidates, the latter having just accepted the office of attorney-general. In Mr. Davie's election address occurred this paragraph:

"It was upon the understanding that the Northern railway should be a matter of government policy that I agreed to enter the cabinet."

Dr. Milne in his address said he was in favor of subsidizing any railway asking reasonable aid, making Vancouver its terminus, and he further said: "As the Canada Western railway is now a matter of fact, by legislation passed last session, I shall, if returned, use my influence to have the same completed as as early a date as possible, with its terminus at Victoria or Esquimalt." We may remark by the way that the condition that Victoria or Esquimalt should be the terminus was inserted in the act at the instance of the opposition; but at present we wish to call attention particularly to the emphasis which Mr. Davie laid on his railway plank. In a speech delivered during the campaign he found fault with his opponent's utterance on the subject, as not strong enough, and proceeded to say:

He entered the cabinet upon the understanding that the early construction of such a road should be made a matter of government policy. For this he had been accused by his opponents of raking up an issue when none arose. The gentleman who had announced himself as his opponent in the campaign, and the Times newspaper, from which his opinions seemed to be taken, had stated that the Canada Western railway was already a matter of fact, by legislation. How the railway could be a matter of fact until it had been constructed was inconceivable to any intelligent person. The scheme might exist on paper for years, but never become a fact. Only the preliminary steps had been taken towards the construction of the road, and unless they were promptly followed up the road would not be built.

It seems that at this time this railway project was made an election plaything by the cabinet, just as it is now. At the same Davie meeting, we believe, it was made apparent that the Hon. Messrs. Robson and Vernon were personally opposed to the project; or at least that they were understood on the mainland to be so minded. In fact the game then was much the same as it is now, when Victoria voters are told—on the quiet, of course—that the Davie government will surely secure the building of the railway if kept in office, while Mr. Vernon is telling the people of the mainland that the government will have nothing to do with it. We need not point out to any elector the dishonest and contemptible character of the government tactics. We need not stop to reflect on the very unflattering opinion of the voters which the ministers must entertain when they expect these tactics to be successful. Even the warmest supporters of the Davie combination must feel that such indecency is bound to bring discomfiture to the men who display it. Let Victoria electors into whose ears is poured the railway tale keep in mind Mr. Vernon's utterance:

The Great Western humbug was the next point the speaker touched upon, and this he condemned in the most emphatic terms. No proposition of any description had ever been laid before the government by the promoters of the railway, and it would receive no vestige of support if it were ever broached."

THE TRUTHFUL PREMIER.

Premier Davie at the Burnaby meeting gave another exhibition of his disrespect for the truth. He there repeated [illegible] ter invariably voted against the anti-Chinese clauses proposed for railway bills. Mr. Forster was present and denied the statement, whereupon Mr. Davie promised to prove it from the journals of the house. It so happens that Mr. Davie cannot do this, and we strongly suspect that he was well aware of the [illegible] when he was making [illegible] speech. We have had the curiosity to consult the journals for 1891, and find that on four separate occasions Mr. Forster voted for the anti-Chinese clause. On page 70 Mr. Forster's name appears twice as voting to insert the clause in the Chilliwack Railway company's bill, and in the Crow's Nest and Kootenay lake company's bill. On page 71 his name appears on the affirmative side in connection with the Burrard Inlet and Fraser Valley bill. On page 88 it similarly appears in connection with the bill incorporating the Kootenay Lake Telephone Co. Mr. Davie therefore made a very wide departure from the truth when he preferred his charge against Mr. Forster at Burnaby. The matter is not very important in itself, but it can hardly be pleasing to the people of the province that they have at the head of their government a man who can stoop to petty prevarication in an attempt to score a point against an opponent.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

The faithful organ cimes to the premier's rescue with the following: "The News-Advertiser asserts that one of the chief burdens of the speeches lately delivered by the provincial premier is long dissertations on the Nakusp & Slocan railway scheme. This is misrepresentation. It must have been observed that since the sitting of the royal commission the premier has not once alluded to the Nakusp & Slocan railway, except when at the Burnaby meeting a few nights ago he was required to do so by the remarks of an opponent." How many speeches besides that at Burnaby has the premier delivered in public meetings since the commission reported?

The Province says: "We notice that Dr. G. L. Milne is again a candidate for Victoria City, and we trust he may be successful in his campaign. Dr. Milne is, we believe, a sound politician, and we are thoroughly in accord with the principles he puts forward in his address to the electors, notably when he says that monopolies of any kind are to be deplored. (The doctor might have said 'condemned' without, we think, in any way weakening his cause). We hope that a majority of the new house will also be of Dr. Milne's way of thinking with regard to the reduction of taxes on improvements. Mr. Arthur L. Dutton appeals for the first time to the electors of Victoria. He is a labor candidate, but we see nothing in his address at which capital can take offence. We notice with pleasure that he too deals a blow at monopolies and holds the righteous view that every man is entitled to an equitable share of what his labor produces. We don't see that it matters if the Chinese ridicule our religion or our laws, and in any case ridicule from a Chinaman is not likely to do much harm. We cannot very well command his reverence for the former, but we certainly can enforce his respect for the latter, and we rather fancy that we do."

PREMIER DUPUY.

Applauded for a Vigorous Reply to Goblet's Carping Criticisms.

Paris, June 8.—In the chamber of deputies to-day M. Goblet said the composition of the new ministry was not in accordance with the express will of the chamber.

M. Bourgeoise and Brisson said a free hand was given them.

To this M. Goblet replied his party was not consulted in the formation of the cabinet. The radicals, he added, had no confidence in the ministry, and the Dupuy regime would, in the opinion of the speaker, mean the condition of affairs was worse than a monarchy.

There was an uproar in the chamber. Finally M. Dupuy accepted M. Issaambert's motion that the chamber had confidence the government would pursue a policy of radical reform and defence of secular rights. Issaambert's motion was eventually adopted by a vote of 315 to 186.

Premier Dupuy, replying to M. Goblet, said that in leaving the presidency of the chamber of deputies he had not shown any want of interest in the demand for radical reforms. He added: "We shall pursue the work of reform and progress without reference to any revolutionary means. We accept the dictation of nobody, and we do not accept the dictation of the vatican. We refuse to permit clerical interference in our affairs." (Applause.)

M. Peletan said that the Dupuy cabinet was simply a repetition of the Cassimir-Perier ministry, and that the country would soon have a revival of clericalism.

TEACHERS IN SESSION.

Proceedings of Association—A Paper on Professional Honor.

The regular monthly meeting of the teachers' association was held yesterday afternoon in the Y. M. C. A. hall. The president, Miss A. D. Cameron, occupied the chair. Duncan Ross read a paper on "What Constitutes Professional Honor." It was followed by a discussion in which Messrs. McNeill and Tait and Misses Munro and Cameron took part. Miss Cameron also read a paper entitled "The Relation Between Parent and Teacher." It was discussed by Messrs. Netherby, McNeill and Ross, Mrs. Caldwell and Miss Lawson. The association decided to ask the city papers to publish [illegible]

The officers were elected for the ensuing term as follows: A. B. McNeill, president; E. B. Paul, M. A., vice-president; Miss E. G. Lawson, re-elected secretary-treasurer. Executive committee, Miss Williams and Miss Cameron, and Messrs. Russell and Pineo.

Below is Mr. Ross's paper in full:

When I was asked by the executive of the association, to read a paper at the meeting of the association, I stated I would, if called upon, offer some suggestions regarding the teaching of geography, but at the last meeting of this association the question was asked, "What constitutes professional honor?" It was answered in a few words and passed over without discussion. The question of professional honor is, to my mind, so important that I felt impelled to give it my attention. We can best find the answer by examining the actions of a teacher, his conduct towards his fellow-teachers, his pupils, the public and himself.

We have not, as in some other professions, a written code of ethics, but there should be, and there is, for every honorable teacher an unwritten code based on that golden rule laid down by Confucius and quoted by our Savior: "Do unto another what you would he should do unto you, and do not unto another what you would not should be done unto you." That is truly for us a code of ethics in a nutshell; an ocean of morals in a drop.

In the race for position, for promotion, some teachers unfortunately their number is small—forget this rule and endeavor to secure an advantage at the expense of their fellow-teachers. If we wish to act honorably at all times we should strictly obey this golden rule, but we unquestionably owe it to the profession that we give it our sacred allegiance. The observance of this rule does not demand from you an obligation of personal friendship towards your professional brethren, but rests upon the broad basis of equal rights and equal privileges to every member of the profession. It is the pole star that guides and directs all those who wish to pursue an honorable course.

Professional morals are an important part in a teacher's education and it is as much the duty of every training school in the Dominion and every high school in the province to acquaint their pupils with the precepts of an ethical code as it is for a mother to familiarize her children with the ten commandments. If it were impressed on the teaching profession that we have an unwritten code of ethics and that it is our duty to observe this code, a teacher desiring to act unfriendly towards his fellow teachers would be compelled to do so in a roundabout way, or by stealth and even then his unfairness would seldom go undetected or unpunished. "Whatsoever a man sows that shall he also reap," and anyone who encroaches upon any member of the profession in an unprofessional manner destroys his right to the protection of any ethical code, written or unwritten. Every teacher should cultivate a professional spirit. His own usefulness depends upon it. He should not endeavor to gain popular favor or the favor of those in authority by doing something that does not agree with both the letter and the spirit of good ethics.

It is perfectly fair and proper for a teacher to seek reputation and position by all legitimate means, but unprofessional to endeavor to secure those by intriguing and scheming. The teacher who attempts to puff himself and belittle other teachers, who boasts of his own excellent methods and whence he graduated and wonders whether his competitors have "the approved methods," who tells of the excellent work done by himself and places in the worst light what is done by other teachers, is using methods unprofessional, but methods which fail in their object. Such attempts are looked upon by trustees and the public as an unethical display of the humbug element, or the efforts of a small egotistical mind, or weak head to hide a lack of qualities that make the good teacher, or efforts to get himself into a more prominent position, and brings the one adopting such methods into ridicule and disrespect. If there should be a teacher in this city who has adopted methods of this nature, he is now no doubt enjoying the benefits resulting from them. As in other professions, accident or trick or a combination of circumstances may give a teacher a somewhat prominent position and bring him into notice, but they can never sustain him and he is finally judged at his true value.

While denouncing the belittling of other teachers' work, I maintain that honest, conscientious, courteous rivalry among teachers is advantageous to the profession and the schools. It creates a spirit of emulation and compels each teacher to try to be successful. If other teachers look after their own interests and do all they can for themselves in a fair, equitable, well-directed manner, no one has a right to complain.

Our educational system is continually changing. School acts of former years have been repealed, another substituted, and that one amended. I do not intend to discuss whether it was right or wrong to take the power of fixing teachers' salaries out of the hands of the education department and giving that power to the trustee boards of the different cities of the province. It probably is the result of the "onward march of progress," and the day may not be far distant when throughout the whole province, the salary will not be pinned to the position, but be regulated by the law of supply and demand. If that day should come, and it is not improbable that it will, it offers a good field for the unprofessional teacher. He made his appearance in the eastern provinces and was a great boon to the trustee boards who believed that the cheapest teacher was the best. The only redeeming feature in his character was that he placed a true value on his abilities were worth—he was never worth more than he asked for. The teacher that lowers a salary attached to a position is dishonorable. He is doing what is ruinous to his own interests and the interests of the profession. Such conduct has a tendency to lower salaries permanently and to compel all teachers to work for underpay. We have had nothing to complain of in this respect in this province, but as I stated, the time may not be far distant when such will be the case. It is the duty of the profession to frown upon any such attempts, and to ostracise an unprofessional quack who may thus attempt to ruin the interests of the profession.

The education department or trustee boards are often enthusiastic in doing something they think would be of benefit to our schools. They often wish to institute what they consider reforms. They may be acting with the most worthy intentions, but from want of knowledge or other causes they may not be acting in the best interests of the schools or the teachers. The teacher who encourages them in their ideas or panders to their prejudices for the sake of making himself popular is acting in an unprofessional manner. The teacher who supports what he does not believe and changes his ideas to be on the popular side is as dishonest as the clergyman whose love of gold and lack of scruples would allow him to vary his principles at will and preach anything wished, whether a strict [illegible] doctrine or an [illegible] discourse, an orthodox Hebrew sermon or a fiery Mohammedan philippic. He might believe in one or none, but would not believe in all, and if he professed to do so should be branded as dishonest.

It is the duty of every teacher to the profession to show the falseness of delusions, not with violence as if prompted by prejudice or self-interest, but because he did so from sober reasons and conscientious devotion to truth. The harm wrong ideas may do our schools should be pointed out by every teacher if he be able to do so. Our educational system is such that the education department is responsible to a considerable extent for the rules and regulations which govern our schools. The minister of education, guided no doubt by the education department, has charge in the legislature of any school act or amendments to school act. Laws are passed, laws have been passed and regulations put in force that teachers of this city and province believed were and are not in the best interests of the schools. It is the duty of teachers to stand together in raising their voices against the passage of a law or the putting in effect of a regulation that they consider would be harmful to our schools. When a public test such as this comes it shows how much professional honor teachers have as a body. The whole teaching profession of this province and the schools of this province are suffering and have suffered more so in the past because some years ago the teachers of the city of Victoria had not the courage to publicly condemn an incubus, because the condemnation of such incubus would have been distasteful to the education department.

Teachers seldom remain for a long time in one position. They often find it in their interests to secure new positions. It is unprofessional and contemptible to speak disparagingly of the work of a predecessor or to criticise the kind of instruction received by pupils under another teacher. To take such a mean advantage, besides being altogether wrong, is dangerous to the teacher who attempts it. A teacher will have a successor himself who will probably treat him as he treated others and he may by pursuing such a course engender a hornet which in retaliation would watch with malignant eye and sting fiercely when opportunity offered. Courtesy, truth and justice should mark every step of a teacher. If he is ever compelled to attack another's conduct he should do so boldly and never anonymously or in whispers. Anonymous and covert attacks are cowardly and beneath the dignity of the profession.

Public opinion is the creator, the source of all reputation and should be respected. The teacher who seeks to change public opinion by belittling the work of a fellow-teacher, by falsehoods, by cowardly innuendoes, by distorting incidents such as crop up in the work of every school, by using his position and his influence to [illegible] actions of a true teacher. He must exhibit in his own person the virtues which he teaches and if his life be a worthy example for his pupils he does more to form their characters than he can do by all his instructions and all his laws. He shows his true character by his conduct towards his fellow teachers, and if it is not such as should be imitated, unless he be without a conscience, he must have the poignant regret of knowing that he has been leading astray those whose youth has led them implicitly to trust in him or what is more probable endure the contempt of those whose more matured moral judgment has main-

He said Roberts was employed a few nights ago to assist in unloading the steamship Tacoma. He said he was hungry at midnight, refused to work longer, went and got something to eat and came back. He was told he was not wanted. Mr. Yorke was superintending the unloading of the vessel. When he met Mr. Yorke in the alley last night the Italian asked him for money. Mr. Yorke replied that he had not yet paid the other men, and the Italian committed the assault as stated. Roberts swore that Mr. Yorke struck him first. DRIVEN ON THE ROCKS.

Ship Benmore Went Ashore at Macauley Point During Last Night's Gale.

She Was Docked at Esquimalt for Survey and Repairs—Was Leaking Badly.

The ship Benmore was driven on the rocks at Macaulay Point last night during the gale and was towed to Esquimalt leaking badly. She is being docked today for a survey and repairs. She was making water at the rate of 5 inches an hour, but her pumps were manned through the night and early part of the day by a party of seamen from the Royal Arthur and Hyacinth.

Who is to blame for the accident is hard to say, but it is the opinion of mariners consulted on the matter that the vessel should never have been taken out of the harbor. The barometer had been falling for some time and the first gusts of the coming gale were felt from the south as she left port. Then again the tugs engaged were not sufficiently powerful.

The Benmore was lying at Sayward's mill and it was decided to transfer her to Esquimalt to finish taking cargo. Capt. Scott was not aboard, being in St. Joseph's Hospital. He had two ribs broken by falling through the hatchway the day before yesterday. The first mate was in charge of the ship and Captain Backnam was taken on as pilot. The tugs Velos and Hope came alongside and took her in tow about seven o'clock. Everything went well at first, but the vessel seemed to go dangerously close to Hospital Point. She did not get the full force of the gale until the red buoy at the mouth of the harbor was cleared. Then began a struggle. The two tugs did their best, but could not get her head to the wind. Every resource of good seamanship was tried unavailingly. The vessel finally drifted toward Macaulay Point and approached the shore stern on. The Hope's machinery at this moment became disabled and she was useless. The Benmore's crew let go the bow anchors, but too late to save her and she struck. There was by this time a terrible sea running and the wind had increased in velocity. Rockets were sent up from the Benmore calling for more assistance.

Mr. Jensen of the Dallas Hotel went off to the ship in a small boat. He learned the danger the vessel was in, quickly returned and sent word for the Islander. The latter vessel, after some delay in getting a crew, steamed outside. The sea was now very high and it was some time before the Islander could get in a safe position to back down to the stranded vessel. A line was finally passed aboard, and the struggle was renewed. The tug Lorne came alongside shortly afterwards and the towing contract was relinquished by the Islander. The Lorne succeeded at 11 o'clock in getting the vessel in motion, and after a hard pull she was safely taken to a sheltered position in Esquimalt. The efforts to save the Benmore were watched by large crowds. The shooting rockets attracted many, and the news was soon known in the city. The tug Velos, after the larger boats arrived, ran for the outer wharf and made fast.

The exact damage to the Benmore could not be ascertained, but she began making water with great rapidity, and as stated the officers sent to the warships for assistance to man the pumps. It was readily given and a party of seamen were sent aboard. This morning the dry dock was prepared and at noon the tug Sadie towed the vessel in. The dock will be pumped out this afternoon and a survey made. The vessel is damaged aft and it is believed several plates are injured. Probably part of her cargo of lumber will have to be discharged before the vessel can be repaired, but that will depend upon the vessel's condition.

It is said the night's work, including towage and repairs, will cost the owners at least $5000.

LAW INTELLIGENCE.

Cases Considered in the Courts this Morning.

In the supreme court chambers this morning Mr. Justice Drake made an order allowing the plaintiff in Pearce v. Houlin to sign judgment against the defendant. Luxton for the plaintiff. White (Alberts & Taylor) for the defendant.

The case of Todd & Son v. Phoenix and the Union Fire Insurance Co.'s came up before Mr. Justice Drake yesterday afternoon, the ownership of an insurance policy being in dispute. The plaintiffs garnished $1800 in the hands of the insurance company, being the proceeds of a policy taken out by Phoenix in his grocery on Wharf street, and which was destroyed by fire. Phoenix had verbally assigned the policy to Lowenberg, Harris & Co. for a cash advance. Todd & Son claim they are entitled to the money on the ground that the verbal assignment does not hold good as against their claim. Judgment was reserved. E. V. Bodwell for plaintiffs, A. P. Luxton for Lowenberg, Harris & Co., and H. Dallas Helmcken for the receiver.

TEACHERS IN SESSION.

It is scarcely necessary for me to point out that it is the teacher's duty to the profession that his public and private life should be above reproach. His conduct towards pupils and others should be such as would redound to his credit and the credit of the profession. Teachers as a body should denounce in unmistakable terms anything in a teacher's conduct that would tend to lower the standard of the profession.

I have attempted to point out some of the duties of a teacher to the profession. Professional honor is included in the performance of those duties. When after one has secured a diploma to teach, whether from a provincial high school or a normal school, from a university or an "English school," it matters not, whenever one starts, one should above all else start right. Let us determine to act the man from the time we enter the profession till we leave it; that we do nothing that is mean, nothing that will not stand the strongest sunlight and the severest scrutiny, nothing that we cannot approve of with the hand upon the heart and the face upturned. Let us be firm in our determination to steer clear of everything that would injure a fellow-teacher. Let us not shirk the responsibilities of the profession. Let us do our duty to our fellow teachers, our pupils and ourselves and we have indeed answered the question—"What Constitutes Professional Honor?"

A hole the size of a pin's head in a kitchen utensil detracts from its usefulness, and a spoke from the wheel of a vehicle at once causes comment. It is the same with the mouth of a human being. An absent tooth gives the mouth the appearance of an "aching void." The symmetry is forever gone, the features are distorted, and already the process of decay has begun, in time other teeth "go by the board," and then succeeds a row of blackened and disfigured stumps. Crown and bridge work is a specialty in dental science, and of which Dr. H. B. Findley is a master. By these processes the mouth is made whole, decay of teeth arrested and the features restored to their original appearance.

AN OPPOSITION MANIFESTO.

The Government Impeached by a Vancouver Convention.

The following appeal to the people of British Columbia was submitted to and endorsed by a convention of the opposition held at Vancouver on Friday evening last:

To the People of British Columbia:

The members of the legislature in opposition to the present government appeal to you to give your verdict at the approaching election in condemnation of the corruption and extravagance which have marked the career of the administration.

We need scarcely remind you of the causes which have checked the progress of the province and paralyzed its development. The years immediately following the completion of the Canadian Pacific railway witnessed a rapid advance in wealth and population, as immigrants, attracted by its great natural resources, poured into the province. But these found the settler neglected that the speculator might be encouraged; necessary works of development postponed, while the interests of syndicates and promoters were advanced and the credit and money of the province recklessly pledged and used for the furtherance of private and political advantage; and that to-day we have stagnation instead of progress; embarrassment instead of prosperity; and an outlook which is summarized in the words: a failing revenue and a growing expenditure.

Bad government—government actively and aggressively bad—that and that only, could have brought about such a condition under such circumstances in a young and rich country like British Columbia.

We, as you know, have urged and advocated a common sense, business-like, economical administration of public affairs, with special attention to those things which tend to promote the settlement of the country. While we welcome the introduction of capital, and would encourage its employment in every legitimate way, we, at the same time, feel that the main effort of government in a country like this should be directed to the encouragement of the producer, using the term in the wide sense which includes all who by their labor, whether manual or mental, contribute to the building up of the community, as distinguished from the speculator whose object is to profit by the work of others or by the appropriation of the natural wealth of the country.

We have therefore advocated such a fiscal policy as would tend to remove the burden of taxation from the producer, placing it rather upon the speculator.

We oppose the creation of monopolies and the importation of Chinese, who are used as the servants of these monopolies. Our theory is that the country belongs to the people of the country, and that the main function of the government (which is the representative and trustee of the people) is to administer affairs with the view to make it possible for every honest and industrious citizen to provide, by reasonable exertion, for his own wants and the wants of those dependent upon him.

We oppose the reckless and wholesale bonusing and guaranteeing of schemes which are more often for the benefit of some syndicate than of the province—or which at least are first and chiefly for the benefits of the syndicates; in the case of railways, we hold that the province should at least receive value in the shape of beneficial ownership in return for assistance given.

In the fundamental matter of the fair representation of the people in the legislature our policy needs no explanation; nor will it be denied that the slight and tardy reform which has been brought about in this direction is entirely due to our ceaseless efforts.

The same remark applies to the reforms effected during the existence of the parliament which has just ceased its labors, in land, school, assessment and municipal legislation. To preserve the land for those who wish to use it—instead of giving it to those whose object is merely to gamble with it; to popularize our public schools and increase their efficiency—instead of handing them over to the absolute control of an autocratic central authority; to adjust taxation to the lines already indicated—instead of arranging it to be at once a fine upon industry and an encouragement to speculation; to relieve municipalities from vexatious restrictions, giving them fuller powers of self-government, instead of keeping them in leading strings as mere puppets of the provincial executive; these and kindred matters have formed our "platform" in the past, and that fact is the best guarantee for our future policy.

With confidence therefore, since our record speaks for us in no uncertain tones, we appeal to you to put the seal of your approval upon the policy which has guided us in the past and which shall continue to guide us—a policy which takes a wide outlook, embracing the common interests of the whole province, as against the narrow views of sectionalism—a policy which holds that the interests of the many must override the selfishness of the few—a policy which sets before it, as its end and object, the building up in this far outpost of the empire of a rich and powerful province of the Dominion, inhabited by a free, prosperous and contented people.

A Toronto Business Man

MAKES A VALUABLE DISCOVERY.

He Learns How to Keep Well and Strong During the Hot Summer Months.

KEPT ROBUST AND STRONG BY USING PAINE'S CELERY COMPOUND.

"Last year, I learned a very valuable lesson," said a well-known Toronto business man, "I found that I could maintain and keep up my bodily strength and nervous energy in a simple and very inexpensive way during the hot summer weather, and feel as well and strong as in the winter months. How do I accomplish it? Simply by using Paine's Celery Compound every day during the month of June, before the terribly hot and enervating weather commences. In this way I brace up my system and nerves to meet the most weakening period of the year. Of course I feel it an ery Compound twice a day—morning and ery Compoundt wice a day—morning and night—during July and August.

The towns and cities of the Dominion are full of energetic business men, many of whom find life weary and burdensome in mid-summer. They are weak, nervous, sleepless and run-down; often appetite is poor; the blood is impure, and courses sluggishly through the body, and the whole machinery is like a steam engine that cannot be worked properly until thoroughly overhauled and repaired.

It is pleasing to know that, like the Toronto business man who has given his experience, there are thousands of men—busy workers—in all callings of life, who are growing stronger, lighter and more robust every day, by using nature's restorer, Paine's Celery Compound. Pure, rich and healthy blood is sent through the deep parts of the heart, liver and kidneys, leaving in its passage material for rapid repair, and taking away in its stream the used-up, dangerous elements; seeds of weakness are driven from every organ, and all functions receive new vigor and life.

Your own family physician will tell you that Paine's Celery Compound feeds worn-out nerves, fortifies the system and clears the brain. It is the only medicine in the world that truly "makes people well." Now is the time to brace up and get rid of your troubles, if you would be strong during the heated term. One bottle of Paine's Celery Compound will convince the most skeptical that it possesses virtue and great power. It will certainly do for you what it has done for your friends and neighbors. You have the past testimony of thousands of Canada's best people to guide and encourage you.

The Superiority

Of Hood's Sarsaparilla is due to the tremendous amount of brain work and constant care used in its preparation. Try one bottle and you will be convinced of its superiority. It purifies the blood which, the source of health, cures dyspepsia, overcomes sick headache and biliousness. It is just the medicine for you.

HOOD'S PILS are purely vegetable, carefully prepared from the best ingredients.

TIRED MOTHERS.

Lactated Food a Family Friend and Helper.

MAKES CROSS BABIES HAPPY.

Tired, careworn and anxious mothers are found in every city, town and village in Canada. The large majority of these mothers suffer mentally and physically because their little ones are cross, peevish, sleepless and sickly. To loving mothers such babes add vastly to the toils and worries of every-day life.

Let us assure every mother that, with little trouble and expense, she can improve her own and her baby's condition. Infants become a source of trouble and anxiety when they are imperfectly fed from day to day. Infants fed on improperly prepared foods and half sour cow's milk in summer time must suffer, and therefore become burdensome to mothers, until death takes them away.

Babies regularly fed on sweet, pure and wholesome Lactated Food never become troublesome. Such babies are lovely, healthy flowers, that go on from strength to strength, and are a source of joy and pleasure.

Mothers who are wearied and careworn have themselves to blame. It is in their power to improve their own condition and to fully develop and protect the little ones in their charge.

Lactated Food is a boon for mother and baby. When fed daily to the baby it produces blessings to all concerned.

At the recent international medical congress in Rome, the section of hygiene was given a practical illustration of the strides that the Eternal City has been taking in that science by a visit to the Tiber, which for the whole extent of its course through the city is being enclosed in masonry embankments of great height and massive construction. The work, which has involved an enormous expenditure, not only in the actual construction, but also in the rearrangement of bridges, sewers and drains, will, it is hoped, increase the healthfulness of the city by preventing floods. Broad, open boulevards will extend along the river side instead of the irregular buildings which formerly contributed by their sewage to the befoulment of the river.

It is not what its proprietors say, but what Hood's Sarsaparilla does, that tells the story of its merit. Hood's Sarsaparilla cures.

—The following concerning two of Westminster's leading men will be read with sorrow by their many friends in Victoria: William Johnson, who has been slowly sinking for the past two weeks, was very low this afternoon, and his death is believed to be only a matter of a few hours. Bishop Sullivan's condition was unchanged this afternoon. No improvement has taken place in his lordship's condition in the last 24 hours, and it is believed the end cannot be far off.

—George McL. Brown, district passenger agent of the C. P. R. at Vancouver, was in the city last evening on his way to the Sound. He said that 75 eastern passengers and 100 tons of freight were landed at New Westminster from Kats Landing late yesterday afternoon. A number of the passengers will therefore arrive here this evening. Mr. Brown said nothing about mails but it is presumed there will be some received. The wires to Vancouver being down no advices from there have been received.

The Why and Wherefore.

There is nothing marvellous in the fact that Hood's Sarsaparilla should cure so many diseases. When you remember that a majority of the disorders "flesh is heir to" are due to impure or poisonous condition of the blood, and that Hood's Sarsaparilla is an effective and radical blood purifier, the whole thing is explained.

Besides its blood purifying qualities, Hood's Sarsaparilla also contains the best known vegetable stomach tonics, diuretics, kidney remedies and liver invigorants, and is thus an excellent specific for all disorders of these organs, as well as for low condition of the system, or That Tired Feeling.

S. P. Smith, of Towanda, Pa., whose constitution was completely broken down, is cured by Ayer's Sarsaparilla. He writes:

"For eight years, I was, most of the time, a great sufferer from constipation, kidney trouble, and indigestion, so that my constitution seemed to be completely broken down. I was induced to try Ayer's Sarsaparilla, and took nearly seven bottles, with such excellent results that my stomach, bowels, and kidneys are in perfect condition, and, in all their functions, as regular as clock-work. At the time I began taking Ayer's Sarsaparilla, my weight was only 123 pounds; I now can weigh 159 pounds, and was never in so good health. If you could see me before and after using, you would want me for a travelling advertisement. I believe this preparation of Sarsaparilla to be the best in the market to-day."

Ladies Costumes

Ladies have a great deal of trouble in selecting dress goods. The variety is great. The quality is various and the merit claimed is sometimes more than the possession. When ladies are desirous of obtaining the finest grade of Black Dress Goods, they should ask to see Priestley's dress fabrics. These, as is well known, are the ne plus ultra of durability, beauty and delicacy of texture. They have long been the favorite dress goods of well dressed Englishwomen. The Americans prefer them to BLACK French goods. Canadian ladies can obtain them from reliable dealers. Ladies should always ask for Priestley's Dress Goods. DRESS MATERIALS
